An Act to make such special provision with respect to patents registered designs, copyright and trade marks, as is expedient to meet any emergency which may arise as a result of war.

[21st September 1939.]

BE it enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons in the present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

Provisions as to existing licences under patents, designs and copyright of enemies and enemy subjects and as to contracts relating thereto. 2 & 3 Geo. 6, c. 99.

1. (1) Notwithstanding the provisions of section one of the Trading with the Enemy Act, 1939, or any rule of law relating to intercourse or dealings with or for the benefit of enemies, a licence under a patent or for the application of a registered design or granting an interest in a copyright, being a licence which would have been in force in favour of a person resident in the United Kingdom or the Isle of Man if neither the proprietor of the patent or registered design, or the owner of the copyright as the case may be, nor any person otherwise interested therein, had been an enemy, shall not be invalid by reason of the fact that the proprietor or owner or any person otherwise interested therein is an enemy, nor shall any contract, in so far as it relates to any such licence as aforesaid, be invalid by reason of the fact that any party to the contract is an enemy:

Provided that nothing in this section shall—

(a) render valid a grant or an assignment of any such licence as aforesaid, or any contract relating to any such licence, if that grant assignment or contract is made during the existence of a state of war and is unlawful by virtue of any provision of the said section one or of any such rule as aforesaid, or

(b) authorize the performance of any contract relating to any such licence as aforesaid in a manner inconsistent with any of the provisions of the Trading with the Enemy Act, 1939, or of any other enactment relating to intercourse or dealings with or for the benefit of enemies, or to the property, rights, or capacity of enemies, or in a manner inconsistent with any rule of law relating to any of those matters.

(2) In the case of any such licence as aforesaid, where an enemy or an enemy subject is, or has at any time since the beginning of the third day of September nineteen hundred and thirty-nine been, whether alone or jointly with any other person, the proprietor of the patent or registered design, or the owner of the copyright as the case may be, or entitled to any other interest therein (not being merely the interest of a licensee), the comptroller may, on the application of the licensee or any other person interested in the patent, registered design or copyright, by order—

(a) revoke the licence,

(b) revoke or vary any conditions subject to which the licence has effect, or

(c) revoke or vary any of the provisions of a contract relating to the licence in so far as they relate thereto.

An order for a variation made under this subsection may be revoked or varied by a subsequent order made thereunder

Power of comptroller to grant licences under patents, designs or copyright of enemies and enemy subjects.

2. (1) Where—

(a) an enemy or an enemy subject is, or has at any time since the beginning of the third day of September nineteen hundred and thirty-nine been, whether alone or jointly with any other person, the proprietor of a patent or registered design or the owner of a copyright, or entitled in any other interest in a patent, registered design or copyright (not being merely the interest of a licensee), and

(b) the comptroller is satisfied that it is in the interest of all or any of His Majesty's subjects that the rights conferred by the patent should be surrendered or that the design should be applied or extended or that the copyright exercised, as the case may be, and that a person who is not an enemy or an enemy subject desires to exercise the said rights or apply the said design or exercise the said copyright and is in a position so to do, the comptroller may, on the application of that person, make an order granting to him a licence under the patent or for the registration of the design or granting an interest in the copyright, as the case may be either for the whole of the residue of the term of the patent, registration or copyright, or for such less period as the comptroller thinks fit

(2) The power of the comptroller under this section to make an order granting a licence shall include the power—

(a) to make an order granting an exclusive licence;

(b) to make an order granting a licence in relation to a patent registered design or copyright, notwithstanding that a licence, whether exclusive or otherwise (not being an exclusive licence granted by virtue of the powers conferred by this section), is in force in relation thereto, and

(c) to make an order granting a licence on any terms that the comptroller may think expedient.

(3) Where, under the powers conferred by this section, the comptroller makes an order granting a licence in relation to a patent registered design, or copyright in relation to which any other licence has been granted otherwise than by an order made under this section, the comptroller may, in relation to that other licence, make any order which the comptroller would have had power to make on an application under sub-section (2) of the last foregoing section, and which appears to him to be expedient having regard to the order made under this section

(4) An order granting a licence under this section shall without prejudice to any other method of enforcement, operate as if it were embodied in a deed granting the licence which the patentee, the proprietor of the registered design, or the owner of the copyright, as the case may be, and all other parties having any interest therein, had executed with full capacity so to do, and the order shall accordingly operate to take away from any such party any right in relation thereto the exercise whereof would be inconsistent with the exercise of the licence in accordance with and subject to the terms on which it is granted

(5) A licensee under a licence granted under this section may institute proceedings for infringement in his own name as though he were the patentee, the proprietor of the registered design or the owner of the copyright, as the case may be, so, however, that any person other than an enemy who whether alone or jointly with any other person is the patentee, the registered proprietor of the registered design or the owner of the copyright, as the case may be, shall, unless the court in which the proceedings are taken thinks fit to direct otherwise, be made a party to the proceedings, either—

(a) if he consents in writing thereto as a plaintiff, or

(b) if he does not so consent, as a defendant.

Where any person is made defendant to any proceedings by virtue of this subsection he shall not be liable for any costs unless he enters an appearance and takes part in the proceedings.

(6) An order granting a licence under this section shall give directions as to the person to whom or the manner in which the licensee is to pay or deal with any royalties or other payments to be paid in respect of the licence In framing any such directions, the comptroller shall have regard to the purposes of any relevant order for the time being in force under the Trading with the Enemy Act, 1939, but any directions given by him under this subsection shall in so far as they may be inconsistent with the provisions of any such order, have effect to the exclusion of those provisions

(7) An order under this section and a licence granted by such an order may be varied by a subsequent order made by the comptroller either,—

(a) where the licensee makes application to the comptroller for the variation thereof, or

(b) where the comptroller is of opinion that circumstances have arisen which make it just and equitable, or that the public interest requires, that it should be varied.

(8) An order under this section and a licence granted by such an order may be revoked by a subsequent order made by the comptroller in any of the following cases, that is to say —

(a) where the licensee makes application to the comptroller for the revocation thereof,

(b) where it appears to the comptroller that it was obtained by any misrepresentation, whether intentional or not, or was made or granted without the comptroller's having full knowledge of the material facts,

(c) where the licensee has failed to comply with any term as which the licence was granted or with a direction given under subsection (6) of this section, or has failed to exercise the licence in such a manner as to satisfy the reasonable requirements of the public in relation to the invention, registered design or work in which copyright subsists, as the case may be, or has charged unreasonable or excessive prices in respect of anything made or done in the exercise of the licence, or

(d) where the comptroller is of opinion that circumstances have arisen which make it just and equitable or that the public interest requires, that it should be revoked.

Power of comptroller to surrend rights of an enemy or enemy subject.

3. (1) Where it is made to appear to the comptroller that it is difficult or impracticable to describe or refer to an article or substance without the use of a trade mark registered in respect of that article or substance, being a trade mark which is, or has at any time since the beginning of the third day of September nineteen hundred and thirty-nine been, registered in the name of an enemy or an enemy subject, whether alone or jointly with another, or which is, or has at any such time as aforesaid been, in the proprietorship of an enemy or an enemy subject, whether alone or jointly with another, the following provisions of this section shall have effect.

(2) On the application of any person who proposes to deal in the course of trade in the United Kingdom or the Isle of Man with an article or substance which is or is intended to be the same as, or equivalent to or a substitute for, the article or substance in respect of which the trade mark is registered, the comptroller may order that the right to the use of the trade mark given by the registration thereof shall be suspended—

(a) so far as regards use thereof by the applicant and any such use thereof by any other person in relation to goods connected in the course of trade with the applicant as would not be an infringement of the said right if the applicant were the proprietor of the trade mark,

(b) to such extent and for such period as the comptroller may consider necessary for enabling the applicant to render well-known and established some description of, or means of reference to, the article or substance with which he proposes to deal in the course of trade, being a description or means of reference which does not involve the use of the trade mark

(3) Where an order has been made under the last foregoing subsection, no action for passing off shall lie on the part of any person interested in the trade mark in respect of any use thereof which, by virtue of the order, is not an infringement of the right to the use thereof given by the registration thereof

(4) An order under this section may be varied or revoked by a subsequent order made by the comptroller

(4) No act requisite for enabling such a grant or registration as aforesaid to be effected, in so far as it is done for that purpose and for that purpose only, shall, whether the grant or registration is effected or not, be treated as a contravention of any of the provisions of section one of the Trading with the Enemy Act, 1939,, or of any rule of law relating to intercourse or dealings with or for the benefit of enemies.

(3) To communicate with the Central Bureau on behalf of students before they start or on behalf of their parents when they are abroad.

(4) To advise prospective candidates for the Indian Civil Service and other competitive examinations held in Delhi.

Students of the Madras Presidency—and of the Indian States whose colleges are affiliated to the Madras University—who contemplate going to England or other countries for further study, and relatives and friends of those who have already gone, are invited to correspond with the Secretary, Room No. 6, New University Buildings, Chepauk, Madras, from whom all necessary information can be obtained.

As all private applications from students sent direct to the Educational Advisor in London or to Educational authorities in Great Britain are forwarded to the Secretary of the Madras University Students' Information Bureau for his enquiry and recommendation, much inconvenience and delay will be saved for students by their getting into touch with the Secretary at Madras.

The Bureau maintains a small library consisting of the prospectuses, syllabuses and calendars of educational institutions and Universities in Great Britain, America and other countries, and students and other enquirers will be allowed the use of the library on all week days—excepting holidays—between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Candidates seeking advice from the Secretary of the University Students' Information Bureau, may interview him by previous appointment between 4 and 5 p.m. on working days in the New University Buildings, Chepauk, and at other times at the Government Muhammadan College, Mount Road, Madras.

M. ABDUL HAMID,
Secretary.

Madras Commerce Report for the month of October 1939.

The war has sharply reduced the supply of statistics from the belligerent countries and as a result, appraisal of the state of trade is rendered much more difficult. In the case of most important primary products the outbreak of war has not led to any boom in prices such as occurred in 1914. The majority of United Kingdom commodity markets have since been subjected to a greater or less degree of Government control, and the interplay of supply and demand has ceased to operate in anything like the normal extent. It is the case, however, that a sine qua non of success in the undertaking now engaging the Empire is a continuous supply of raw materials and food-stuffs in ample quantities, so that, the primary producing countries should be placed in a comparatively favourable position.

As compared with the corresponding month of the previous year, exports from the Province of Madras increased in October by 13·2 per cent and imports by 12·4 per cent.

The demand for cotton from local mills was normal, but outside demand continued poor and prices underwent little alteration. Under war time conditions, there does not seem to be any great prospect of decisive improvement in the world statistical position of cotton. Business in the Indian mill cotton cloth wholesale market was disappointing throughout October, owing chiefly to the fact that the retail market held ample stocks. It was expected however, that with the clearance of these retail stocks in November for Deepavali, improved activity would be seen in that month. All classes of leather were in active demand, and there was a steady upward trend in prices of tanned hides. Prices of tanned goat skins and tanned sheep skins advanced sharply. Business in the groundnut market was restricted, but prices remained steady. The demand for paddy and rice was normal and prices remained practically unchanged. The demand for copra and coconut oil improved as the month were on and prices showed a rising tendency. The Calicut and Cochin coir yarn markets were steady with the exception of Quilandy, prices of which eased off in the absence of demand. The Calicut ginger market declined owing to the absence of European demand, but closed steady. The pepper market continued weak in the absence of export demand and prices showed a sagging tendency. The strength of the Bombay sugar market, owing to the demand for Java sugar for shipment to Aden and Persian Gulf ports, was reflected in the Madras market where local prices increased by about Rs. 3 per bag. The market closed firm owing to improved demand and the fixation of cane prices at a high level by the United Provinces Government. The demand for locally manufactured acids and chemicals was good. Increased production quotas were announced in respect of tea and rubber, the tea export quota for the present regulation year being raised to 93 per cent. The rise in rubber made further progress, a basis being the maintenance of American consumption at very satisfactory levels, and any major reaction in the level of the commodity in the near future appears to be remote in view of the extremely sound statistical position of the industry.

27th October 1939—Rs. 24-13-0 to Rs. 26-8-0.

PADDY AND RICE.

Demand for paddy and rice was normal and prices remained practically unchanged. The average wholesale prices of standard varieties at the main producing centre were as follows :—

Indian paddy per bag of 170 lb.

29th September 1939—Rs. 4-14-0 to Rs. 5-4-0.
27th October 1939—Rs. 4-14-0 to Rs. 5-4-0.

COCONUT PRODUCTS.

Owing to lack of demand the market for Quilandy Coir yarn eased off and closed weak. The market for Beypore and Calicut unsoaked yarns, however, remained steady throughout the month due to fair European and moderate Indian demand. The Cochin coir yarn market remained quiet but with a firmer undertone owing to restriction of production due to the low price level. The demand for coconut oil decreased early in the month and prices suffered a decline. Subsequently demand for both coconut oil and copra improved and prices showed a rising tendency.

COTTON.

Tinnevelly.—There were practically no fresh arrivals from the interior, and it appeared as if ryots were holding over to the next season the little that remained unsold of the last crop. Apart from moderate enquiry by some of the South Indian mills, there was no demand for Tinnevellies and prices gradually receded from about Rs. 205 for 784 lb. at the beginning to about Rs. 195 at the end of the month for average quality.

Cambodia.—Fresh arrivals from the interior were very restricted. There was moderate buying by South Indian mills and stocks in markets were much reduced. There continued to be no demand from outside, prices being considered too high. Good average quality remained more or less stationary at around Rs. 260.

SUGAR.

The Madras market was steady during the first week of October, but continued purchases of Java sugar effect by one dealer encouraged other dealers to put up prices slowly. The Bombay market was strong owing to a good demand for Java sugar for transhipment to Aden and Persian Gulf Ports and prices began to increase. In sympathy with Bombay, local prices increased by about Rs. 2 per bag between the 6th and 14th of the month and then remained steady at that level owing to the smallness of demand from upcountry markets. The market closed firm with a sharp increase of about 8 annas per cwt. owing to improved demand and brisk buying in most Despatch demand, and the fixation of a cane price of Re. 0-8-0 per maund, excluding cess, by the United Provinces Government. The price of Nellikuppam sugar was Rs. 33-5-0 per bag of 2 cwt. at the end of October as compared with Rs. 30-4-0 at the end of September. South Indian markets generally fluctuated in the same way as the Madras market though demand was still below normal. At the close of the month, dealers were showing much more interest in buying as they felt that prices would not drop and that the tendency was for an increase.

HIDES AND SKINS.

Tanned hides.—There was a steady upward trend in prices throughout October and the demand from London was very keen. On the 6th October, revised prices were fixed by the Ministry of Supply which showed an advance on those fixed at the beginning of September of from 1d. to 2d. per lb. Shippers in Madras had been buying in September at above control prices in London but at the advanced prices considerable stocks, afloat and on spot in London were released for consumption. Towards the end of October prices in Madras advanced from 1d. to 1½d. per lb. above the control prices. In other lines not under control such as cow and buff calf and buffs, prices advanced rapidly during October and were still showing an upward tendency at the end of the month. The raw hides market advanced considerably and the tanners contended that they could not replace at below 1½d. to 2d. per lb. above the market here.

Prices on the 31st October were as follows :—

Prices 5½ lb. 17d./17½d., Prime 8½ lb. 16½/16¾d.
Prime 10/12 lb. 15½/16d., Cocon 7½ lb. 16/16¼d.

Tanned goat and sheep skins.—In both markets, business was good but somewhat spasmodic. Much more business was done in both goat and sheep on a direct shipment basis as shippers who usually send their goods for selling in the public auctions became somewhat apprehensive as to when their goods would eventually reach London as some consignments had been landed in other ports where unloading difficulties were experienced and it was therefore uncertain when the goods would eventually be sold. Furthermore, certain consignments unfortunately did not reach London at all and this resulted in a severe shortage in the quantities put up for sale at the auctions which took place on the 23rd of October. The quantities actually offered were 233,000 goats against nearly 600,000, and 400,000 sheep against 650,000 in September. Everything was well competed for and goats advanced 2d. to 1s. per lb. over previous auction prices, whilst sheep advanced 1s./6d. to 2s. per lb. Madras prices had advanced to this extent prior to the auctions but even so, such a rapid increase brought its reaction on this market. Some suppliers asked very high prices for future shipment lots, whilst others refrained from offering in order to see how the market would settle down. As compared with those ruling before the war, prices had advanced on average at the end of October by 33 per cent in the case of heavy goats, by 55 per cent on light goats, by 50 per cent on sheep fair to middle sorts, and by 45 per cent on sheep prime.

Shipments of hides and skins during October were as follows :—

OFFICIAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

Tender for the supply of Stationery articles, etc.

Sealed tenders for the supply of all or any of the undermentioned articles of Indian manufacture during the official year 1940-41 will be received by the Superintendent of Stationery up to 12 noon on Thursday, the 25th January 1940

GENERAL CONDITIONS.

Tenders must be superscribed "Tenders for stationery articles, etc." and must specify the rates at which the tenderers undertake to supply the articles at the Stationery Office, Madras. The tenders must be typed and submitted in the form printed below, and should be accompanied by a deposit of 5 per cent on the value of the tender. The deposit must be remitted into the Reserve Bank of India, Madras, and the bank's receipt attached to the tender. No cash will be accepted

2 Samples of articles to be supplied must invariably accompany the tender; they must be distinctly described and marked with the name of the tenderer on labels attached to them. Samples will not be paid for. Standard samples of articles may be inspected at the Stationery Office.

3 Should a tenderer withdraw his tender before settlement his tender deposit will be forfeited to Government.

4 The successful tenderer will be required to deposit, as security, 10 per cent of the value of his tender together with the necessary stamp duty, and to sign a contract bond (the form of which can be seen at the Stationery Office) within fifteen days from the date on which he is informed that his tender is accepted; otherwise his deposit of 5 per cent will be forfeited and his tender will be considered as cancelled

5. In the case of unsuccessful tenderers their tender deposits will be duly returned to them.

6 The actual quantities required which may vary from the quantities given below will be intimated to the contractor from time to time and must be delivered at the cost and risk of the contractor at the Stationery Office, Madras, punctually on the dates fixed in the orders issued; failing which, the terms of the contract bond will be strictly enforced.

7 As a rule, supply should not be made in excess of the quantities ordered and if so made, will be liable to rejection. Overmakes will not ordinarily be purchased.

8. Any increase or decrease in customs duty that may take place subsequent to the date of tender will be taken into account when payment is made.

9. The Superintendent of Stationery reserves to himself the right of rejecting any tender without assigning any reason for so doing.

10 Duplicator inks.—Some varieties of duplicator inks yield good results when fresh but deteriorate quickly as much so that the colouring matter of the ink gets separated from the liquid portion of the ink. The inks tendered for should be free from this defect. Each tube of ink should be supplied in a cardboard box, both the tube and the cardboard box having a label to show (a) the brand of ink, (b) the pattern of duplicator for which it is intended, i.e., whether Gestetner or R.R.R., (c) the colour of the ink, (d) the quantity of ink in the tube; and (e) detailed instructions as to how the ink is to be applied. Roneo ink tins should have a similar label.

11. Cyclostyle wheel pens.—These should be of the best quality. Each pen should be enclosed in a small cardboard box

12 Ribbons.—These should as far as possible be in air-tight boxes as otherwise they will be liable to quick deterioration—the ribbons of the standard lengths prescribed for each pattern. They should be supplied in spools which will exactly fit the patterns concerned. The tin boxes in which samples and supplies of ribbons are submitted should bear labels to show (a) the pattern and the model of the machine for which they are intended, (b) the width of the ribbon (c) the colour of the ribbon, and the brand or make of the ribbon. Each ribbon box should contain a slip having some mark which will enable the manufacturers to find out the date of manufacture and facilitate investigation into causes of complaint if any should arise later on. Supplies of ribbons should be made in cardboard boxes containing one dozen ribbons, each ribbon being enclosed in a tin box. The cardboard boxes should have a label detailing (a) the number of ribbons contained in the cardboard boxes, (b) the pattern and model of the typewriter for which the ribbons are intended, (c) the width of the ribbon, (d) the colour of the ribbon and (e) the brand or make of ribbon.

It should be certified in the tender that each ribbon is of good quality sufficient to last for at least 67 days at 8 hours work per day. As regards single-colour ribbons half the quantity should be of black and the remaining half purple. As regards bicolour ribbons half should be black and red and the balance purple and red

13. Tenders shall be opened on Thursday, the 25th January 1940, at 12-15 p.m. in the presence of those tenderers who desire to attend.

14. Packing cases or gunnies will neither be returned nor paid for.
